

Resource submission guidelines for sanitationlearninghub.org

Our team source new documents for the Sanitation Learning Hub collection from a variety of sources including submissions from Hub users.

Before submitting a resource, please familiarise yourself with the structure of the website and think about how the new resource would fit in.

The following are some of the criteria taken into account when selecting content:

Origin

We prioritise research from, or about developing countries but we will include other research we think is relevant to our users.

Copyright and licensing

Please make sure the resources are open access, or you have permission for us to host them. If you would like more information on Creative Commons licenses, please visit their website:

<https://creativecommons.org/>

The metadata record created by the Sanitation Learning Hub to link to the documents is licensed as Open Access under a creative commons license (CC BY 3.0).

Format

The majority of our resources are links to documents in PDF format but we can include Word, HTML or media resources including photos and video.

Hosting

We can either link to a page where the resource is already hosted, but we also offer the option of hosting documents for you with your permission.

Quality

The Sanitation Learning Hub provides access to published research from a broad range of research producers with variable standards and interpretations.

What we accept includes:

- Reports (research reports, workshop reports, working papers, discussion papers, conference papers)
- case studies
- policy briefings
- toolkits
- guidance notes
- audio-visual material
- journal articles
- blogs published on other platforms. If you have written a blog and would like us to publish it as a Sanitation Learning Hub blog, please use the blog submission form.

If you have multiple documents you would like us to include, or you have a document that is not yet online, you might prefer to email us on SLH@ids.ac.uk. If you can't see the answer to your question above, or have any other queries, please do get in touch.
